IPython Magic Commands Cheatsheet

Command	Explanation
`%pwd`	Print the current working directory.
`%ls`	List all files and directories in the current directory.
`%cd <path/to/folder>`	Change the current working directory to the specified path.
`%bookmark <bookmark-name> <path/to/folder>`	Create a bookmark to a directory.
`%cd -b <bookmark-name>`	Change the current working directory to the one saved in the bookmark.
`%bookmark -l`	List all existing bookmarks.
`%bookmark -d <bookmark-name>`	Delete the specified bookmark.
`%load <file_name.py>`	Load the content of a Python script into a cell.
`%who`	List all variables in the namespace.
`%whos`	Provide a detailed information about all variables in the namespace.
`%reset_selective <variable>`	Unset the specified variable.
`%reset`	Reset the namespace by removing all names defined by the user.
`%history [<line-number>, ...]`	Show command history. Specify line numbers to view specific commands.
`%recall <line-number>`	Bring back the command from the specified line number.
`%store <variable> [<variable>, ...]`	Store variables in IPython's database.
`%store -r`	Refresh all variables from the store.
`%save <file-name> [<line-number>, ...]`	Save your code to a .py file. Specify line numbers to save specific lines of code.
`%automagic off`	Turn off the automagic function, which allows you to use magic commands without the `%` prefix.
`<object>?`	Provide details and a quick description of the object.
`<object>??`	Provide more details about the object, including its source code if available.